SANITY

OF MISS TOPPAN, THE NURSE,
NOW IN JAIL.

INQUIRED INTO BY EXPERTS BE-FORE HER TRIAL.

THE STATE HAS A STRONG CASE.

But a Motive Has Not Been Found.
There is Insanity in the Toppan Family.

Barnstable, Mass., Feb. 14.—Jane Toppan, the trafficked nurse confined in jail here on the charge of murdering some of her patients by poisoning, will be examined as to her sanity by medical experts before her trial comes off. Should she be found to be insane the trial, which promised to be most sensational, will not come into court. Miss Toppan's attorneys have already intimated that they intend to have Miss Toppan's sanity inquired into, bringing forth a number of instances to substantiate their claims for so doing. Not only is there a sister of Miss Toppan in an insane asylum, but it is said evidence can be brought to show that Miss Toppan's father was of unsound mind.

The bodies of three of Miss Toppan's supposed victims have been found to contain large quantities of morphine and the prosecution has given out the information claiming it to be established, that Miss Toppan purchased the drug at stores in Wareham and Falmouth. The prosecution has a strong case against Miss Toppan, but has as yet not been able to discover a motive. Financial transactions have been brought to light which set aside all possibility that Miss Toppan committed the crimes for the purpose of obtaining money.

SECOND

Girl Kills Herself After Breeding Over
Killing of the Two Biddle Brothers.

Pittsburg, Pa., Feb. 14.—Brooding over the tragic end of the Biddle brothers, Elsie Brown attempted to commit suicide yesterday at No. 102 Fourth avenue by taking creosote. The room in which she committed the deed was filled with pictures of Edward Biddle clipped from the newspapers and gathered from various sources. They were hung on the wall and put up all over the room. The woman will die.

The girl's name is said to be Mary Harley, a letter addressed to that name from Salem, O., being found in the room. The address of the writer was given at 1149 East Main street, Salem, Ohio.

The theory is that she became infatuated with one of the bandits who escaped from jail with Mrs. Soffel, the wife of the warden. She brooded over the death of Ed Biddle until her mind became affected.

DEATH

REVEALS AN ODD ROMANCE
IN ILLINOIS.

PROUD SOUTHERN GIRL WEDDED
A HANDSOME MULATTO.

WOMAN TO AVOID SUSPICION
Stained Her Hands and Face With Walnut Juice—Father Threatened Meade's Life.

Morris, Ill., Feb. 14.—Albert Meade, a mulatto miler, was accidentally killed at Carbon Hill yesterday afternoon. His death revealed a romance. The widow who, with her infant is left to mourn Meade's death, is a white woman, the daughter of a proud and wealthy southern family. Three years ago Meade and his wife with their baby, came to Carbon Hill. Meade was a bright mulatto and handsome. His wife, who was but a shade darker than he, was remarkably handsome woman. A year after a stranger with a decided southern accent, appeared. He said his name was Wayne. He was hunting Meade and declared his intention of killing him on sight. He said his daughter had eloped with Meade from their plantation in Maryland, where Meade had been employed as a coachman. He was told Meade's wife was a mulatto and half convinced he was on the wrong trail he visited the cottage. Meade who had been warned of the man's threats, fled to the village jailer for protection and remained in jail all night. The man went to the cottage. He found his daughter and learned that, to avoid suspicion and to be with her husband without causing comment among their neighbors she had stained her face and hands with walnut juice that she might be of his own color. He had intended to kill Meade, but when he saw his daughter and the baby, he relented and departed after making his daughter promise that if she ever needed assistance she would call on him. Further than that Carbon Hill knows nothing of Wayne, or whether the name was assumed or not.

TRAIN

DASHED DOWN THE SLOPE
AT TERRIFIC GAIT.

FOUR MEN KILLED, AND SEVEN
WERE INJURED.

WRECK ON THE PENNSYLVANIA.

Flying Train Was Stopped When It
Crashed Into Another Freight
Near Allegrappa.

Altoona, Pa., Feb. 14.—The most serious wreck that has occurred on the Pennsylvania railroad for a long time was occasioned at 5 o'clock this morning by the crashing together of three trains on the heavy grade just west of the Altoona yards. At least four persons were killed and seven injured. Two of the injured will probably die.

The cause for the accident remains to be explained. All of the tracks were blocked and traffic will be suspended several hours. Wrecking crews with physicians were hurried to the scene, which is on one of the heaviest grades and most dangerous sections of the Pennsylvania system.

The dead and injured were brought to Altoona by a special engine. It is not certain, but others, both dead and injured, are buried under the immense pile of wreckage. Details are yet difficult to obtain.

The dead are:
A. S. Grover, conductor; W. B. West-
ner, brakeman; E. W. G. Brakeman, all of Altoona, and an unknown man.

The injured:
Wm. Whartman, flagman; Simon
Frederick, brakeman; B. W. Kincaid, engineer of No. 214; J. W. Fluke, engineer of the runaway. Two firemen names not learned.

The injured were taken to Altoona hospital. This disaster occurred at the "A. G." block, two miles west of Allegrappa. No. 416 east bound, got beyond control on a heavy grade at the approach to the horseshoe curve and ran into the rear of 214. Two engines and five cars were demolished.

Pittsburg, Pa., Feb. 14.—The report concerning the wreck on the Pennsylvania railroad, near Altoona this morning, that had reached the company's office in IPittsburg contained information that follows:

"After hauling a heavily loaded freight train over the summit of the Allegheny mountains on the Pennsylvania railroad Engineer J. W. Fluke lost control of the train, and it dashed down the western slope at a terrific gait. The effort of the crew to slack on its momentum was of little avail and it only stopped by crashing into another freight train two miles west of Allegrappa. The engines on both trains were derailed and 15 heavily loaded cars were scattered all over the tracks. Three of the trainmen were instantly killed, and seven more or less injured. The wreck occurred about 5 o'clock this morning.

CUT HIS OWN SALARY.

New York, Feb. 14.—The Rev. David Gregg, pastor of the Lafayette avenue Presbyterian church, Brooklyn, has cut his own salary. He told the members of the board of trustees that his salary of $10,000 a year was too much, and hereafter he said, he would accept but $8,000. The church is in debt $5,500.

LEITER'S CONDITION.

New York, Feb. 14.—The reports that the illness of Joseph Leiter, the one-time king of the Chicago grain market, has taken a turn for the worse are denied by his physicians this morning. The doctors say that Leiter is suffering from grip and is in no immediate danger.

A German physician declares that 72.5 per cent of dypentics have unsound teeth.

JAPAN

Puffed Up Over Treaty With Great Britain—Press Gives Vent to Its Pleasure.

Yokohama, Feb. 14.—The press here gives vent to its pleasure at the conclusion of the agreement with Great Britain which secures for Japan admission to the community of great nations. The press also recognizes that the agreement imposed heavy possibilities and that Japan must not fall into the error of supposing that peace will be assured without further effort. Several of the papers comment upon the extraordinary fact that the leading world power abandons its policy of splendid isolation openly to clasp hands with Japan.

Still Improves.

Groton, Mass., Feb. 14.—Young Roosevelt passed a very comfortable night and was bright and cheerful this morning, and is rapidly improving.

THOUSAND DOLLARS FOR HUSBANDS.

Two Toronto Merchants, Anxious to See Daughters Well Married,
Will Give Bonuses.

Stuebenville, O., Feb. 14.—Two Hungarian business men in Toronto, Ohio, who are well supplied with this world's goods, have made a remarkable offer to secure good husbands for their daughters. Both men have handsome daughters, and the girls, besides being well educated, are good housekeepers.

The fathers propose to give $1,000 in cash to the two young Americans who will marry the girls. The young men must come well recommended, be sober and industrious and of good habits. The girls are members of the Greek Catholic Church.

NEW BANK SYSTEM

WITH NUMEROUS BRANCHES TO BE ORGANIZED.

Combine to Have $50,000,000 to $100,000,000 Capital—Western Man
May be President.

New York, Feb. 14.—A story was circulated today that a securities holding company is to be organized under the laws of New Jersey, with a capital of between $50,000,000 and $100,000,000, which would "practically unite under one management and in a community of interests some of the principal smaller banks of the country."

According to the story, at least 100 banks would be embraced in the plan, which, if carried into effect, would mean "that the branch bank system that is so successfully operated in Canada and Great Britain will, in effect, be in operation in this country, only in other way—that is, through the medium of the securities company plan."

In some quarters it was supposed that the story grew out of a scheme suggested some time ago for a combination of certain banks. The National Park bank, of this city, two banks in St. Paul, and a bank in Chicago, were mentioned in connection with it, and a St. Paul man, it was said, was to be president.

GREAT NAVY

Is Useless to This Country, Andrew
Carnegie Argued Before Authors' Club in New York.

New York, Feb. 14.—Andrew Carnegie at the Authors' club last evening said the great navy we are building is perfectly useless. No nation on earth would ever move against this country, even if it declared war against us. It is a great matter for this country to feel the world, any European nation in arms against this country would leave before it got through. In less than three weeks the people of that nation—Great Britain, or Germany—would be starving and they would compel peace. He said that this republic is impregnable against the world.

Ohio Canal Bill.

Columbus, Feb. 14.—The bill for the abandonment of the canals of the state will be introduced today by Mr. Painter of Wood, but it will not follow absolutely the draft made by the attorney general. Instead of putting the sale of the canal lands in the hands of the present canal commissioners and two others appointed by the governor, it will provide that the sale shall be conducted by a commission, composed of the governor, attorney general and treasurer of the state. It will contain a section providing for the abandonment of the canal commission as well as the canals.

ZEIGLER

WASN'T AT THE "COMING OUT" PARTY

BUT HE WON HEART AND HAND
OF MISS CHITTENDEN.

A PRETTY COLUMBUS HEIRESS.

Bill Poster Weds Society Favorite and Creates a Sensation—Relatives
Don't Like It.

Columbus, O., Feb. 14.—Society circles are agog over the announcement of the marriage of Helen K. Chittenden and Edward P. Zeigler at the Catholic cathedral. A special dispensation was necessary as the bride is not a Catholic.

The bride is the daughter of Henry T. Chittenden, one of the best known citizens of Columbus, and a granddaughter of E. T. Mithoff, rated the richest man in the city. The groom is a brother of Frederick Zeigler, who conducts a wholesale liquor store at 531 south High street. He made his home with this brother. Other brothers are in the saloon business. Mr. Zeigler's occupation, according to the city directory, is "clerk." He has been usher at various theatres off and on for years and when not doing anything else posted lithographs in show windows for the theatres. He is 30 years old.

Mrs. Zeigler is an attractive woman of 19. She has been reared in luxury. On the evening of December 21 she was introduced into society. It was one of the swiftest functions of the year. The fair debutante was showered with attentions, and many a young man who was privileged to attend the "coming out" secretly wished that he might win the favored one's hand—and perhaps the favor of the wealth that it was said would be hers if she followed the dictates of her relatives.

Mr. Zeigler was not an attendant at the "dinner dance" nor is there any record of his having attended other social functions which Miss Chittenden was in the habit of gracing with her presence.

A year or so ago Miss Chittenden lived with her father at the hotel bearing his name, and it is said that there she became acquainted with Zeigler. The acquaintance quickly ripened into friendship and soon Cupid held full sway. The relatives of the young society bud divined what was doing and she was hustled out of the country so as to get her away from her adored one. But trips through sunny Italy, arduous exercise in the Switzerland mountains, fresh salt winds and the acquaintance of foreign noblemen and society's brightest and richest failed to efface from her mind the memory and love of the humble Columbus swain.

After her return to this city, it is said Miss Chittenden and Zeigler engaged in many clandestine meetings.

E. T. Mithoff, the millionaire grandfather of the bride, said "Yes, I heard about the marriage late Wednesday. I wasn't at the wedding and didn't give a present. Poor girl, how unfortunate! There's a fellow, who, from all accounts does nothing. He's married to a rich girl and maybe he expects her to keep him."

"She said all summer she was going to get married. She would not yield to persuasion. No, I don't know the man. They say he's near to 35 years of age. Rather old, isn't it? Now, if he has counted on getting any of my property after I'm dead—providing I leave some—Mr. Zeigler is very badly mistaken. It's an unfortunate affair, that's all, but what can you do after it's over. She's a foolish girl."

The young couple are living at the Goodale flats. They are oblivious to the sensation they have created and are wrapped up in each other. Mrs. Zeigler has $100,000 in her own name.

APOLOGIZING TO DEWEY.

New York, Feb. 14.—Prince Henry of Germany has made amends to Admiral Dewey for the conduct of the Germans at Manila. Dewey may make it public.

Old People

Need a gentle stimulating Tonic that will rejuvenate and check decline—Vinol retards old age and builds up strength.

Mrs. Rebecca R. Potter made Strong by Vinol.

"I was so nervous and weak as the result of an accident that I could not work or scarcely speak. Vitality and stomach seemed to be all gone and Vinol has built me right up. I have taken three bottles, and my nerves are strong again and am able to do as much work in one day as I ever could, and I am 65 years old."—Mrs. REBECCA R. POTTER, 61 Pleasant View Avenue, Providence, R. I.

How Vinol Cured a Civil War Veteran.

"MILLER H. HARRIS, 54 years of age, served through the Civil War, a member of the 143d Ohio Volunteers, Company I. Was troubled more or less since the war. More particularly noticed five or six years back. Feels worse in winter. Has taken five bottles of Vinol—very much improved and has felt better this winter than for seven years. The principle affection is in the throat and this is now nearly all gone. Gets perfect rest at night and can breathe very comfortably."

Vinol combines all of the curative elements found in the cod's liver, a little organic iron and a delicate table wine, and is devoid of all the obnoxious features of cod-liver oil. It is delicious to taste and smell—that's the reason it does so much good. Won't you please come in and see us? We are always glad to extol the merits of Vinol. We will give you back your money if you don't find Vinol will do all we claim it will. Could any one do more for you and not be honest?

IN CONTACT WITH POLITICS AT IOWA'S CAPITAL.

Des Moines Closes Churches and Stops Public Gatherings on Account of the Disease.

Des Moines, Ia., Feb. 14.—The City Council of Des Moines has decided to close all churches, theatres and to prohibit all public gatherings until the smallpox epidemic has abated.

Mayor Hartenbower will at once employ 100 men to enforce quarantine, and physicians to vaccinate all who have not been vaccinated.

The decision will put a stop to the bitter congressional campaign for the Republican nomination which is raging in this district between Judge Prouty and Congressman Hull, as well as the municipal campaign.

Speeches have been made nightly for more than a week by Judge Prouty, who aspires to succeed Congressman Hull, and big meetings are held for every night during this and next week. Hull is expected to return next week, and he, too, intended to enter on a continuous speaking campaign.

The Prouty managers held a conference and decided to attempt small noon-day meetings at factories and in business houses. Even these meetings may be stopped.

MRS. POLLEY

Supposed to be in Newark, is Badly Needed by Her Little Children at Portsmouth.

Mayor Atherton is just in receipt of a letter from Portsmouth, Ohio, making inquiry about the whereabouts of one Susie Polley, whose baby is very sick at Portsmouth. The woman, the letter said, was supposed to be in Newark.

The writer says that the woman and her husband went to Columbus last summer, and sent the children back to the "old people," promising them $2 a week.

Mrs. Susie Polley is described as "a very dark woman and weight 150 pounds, heavy-set and very bright eyes, round face," real pretty hair—her hair is very black—height 5 feet 4 inches and very small mouth and nose. She has a big wart on one of her shoulders.

The writer begs that the woman be found and sent to her homeless children.

Mayor Atherton gave the letter to the Advocate so that if any reader should know Mrs. Polley's whereabouts he could communicate with Mrs. Lucy Bird, 1432 Kinney street, Portsmouth, Ohio.

Fight Is Fixed.

New York, Feb. 14.—After many days of hickering the fight between Jim Jeffries and Bob Fitzsimmons seems assured. The Australian today accepted Jeffries' terms and says he is willing to fight anywhere. Jeffries' terms were 40 per cent to the loser and sixty per cent to the winner. The men will meet soon and sign articles.

AMUSEMENTS.

A good audience greeted the Raymonds at the Auditorium Thursday night, and were astounded as well as entertained at the wonderful feats of magic, legerdemain, and hypnotism, performed by Professor Maurice F. Raymond and his wife.

While blindfolded upon the stage, the lady would read and answer questions written by different persons in the audience, without any communication whatever with them. In one case she told a business man where he had lost a memorandum book last Tuesday, and for curiosity he went to his place of business, down into the cellar, and there between a platform and barrel, just where she said, he found the lost book.

The other features of the program were equally wonderful and entertaining. There will be a change of program tonight, Saturday matinee, and Saturday night.

TWO LITTLE VAGRANTS.

The favorite scenic drama "The Little Vagrants," will be the attraction at the Auditorium, on Tuesday, February 18th. Neva Harrison will again appear in the role of Fan-Fan and Ray Scott, formerly with Stuart Robson, has engaged to play the part of Claude. "Two Little Vagrants" is a favorite of the first rank with American theatregoers, owing to its exceptionally strong heart interest, and its remarkably thrilling situations. Manager Edward C. White has re-engaged nearly all the old favorites of former seasons, including Neva Harrison, for the part of Fan-Fan. Prominent among the new members are Lillian Emery and Ray Scott.

NEXT MONDAY NIGHT.

The enjoyment of an evening at the Auditorium on next Monday evening, will be augmented, by an excellent string of specialties which will be introduced in "The Wrong Mr. Wright" without in any way marring the effect originally produced by the author, Mr. George H. Broadhurst, who, as a clever composer of laughter compelling farces, heads the list of there's something remarkably original in the plot. The idea of a man in search of a dishonest employe taking the same pseudonym as the missing cashier is novel and naturally results in his being arrested on the charge of stealing his own money. This is but one of the diverting complications in "The Wrong Mr. Wright," and so dexterously are the misunderstandings arranged that it is easy to follow them. Moreover, the acting is throughout exceptionally good. Mr. John Allison as Mr. Seymour Sites is the hero of the piece. Mr. Hokey as the lady killer is irresistible. Miss Veta Henderson as the beautiful and fascinating lady detective and Miss Maud Allison as the demure maid who impersonated a Swedish girl, is a host in herself. All are conspicuously successful.

BUSINESS MEN IN THEATRICALS.
The New York Herald of May 8th said: "It's strange what strides the stage has made during the past ten years. Business men have taken a hand in the pie, and find it a very profitable investment. Lawrence Barrett, during his grand struggle throughout, numberless difficulties was backed by some of the solid business men of Boston. Viola Allen, who electrified the entire country in 'The Christian,' was furnished funds by a large printing establishment in New York. And now a leading business man of Chicago is investing money required to exploit the comedy farce, 'The Girl from Chili,' and having engaged an exceptionally good company will appear in all the principal cities in a trip across the continent. Prior to their run in San Francisco they will take in some of the minor towns and thus make the journey to and from the Pacific coast with more ease. Theatrical managers look sharp. The business men will crowd you out yet."

PROPOSED MARKET HOUSE.
Captain J. L. Styer, superintendent of the state house and grounds, filed an application with the state canal commission Thursday for lease for 15 years of three small tracts of land on the canal in Newark for the purpose of erecting thereon a market house and other buildings.—Columbus Dispatch.

The invitation was sent to Mr. Washington by the faculty, and his acceptance was received four days ago. A number of members of the senior class, which has a voice in the choice of an orator, announced their opposition to the selection of a negro, and may make a protest at a meeting of the class called for today to discuss the matter. Gov. Tait's Condition.

Washington, Feb. 11.—Governor Tait of the Philippines, has returned to Washington from New York where he went to consult specialists with regard to the trouble which required him to undergo an operation at Manila. While in splendid general health, the Governor's special trouble still bothers him and experts advised that if he expected to return to the tropics he might anticipate a recurrence of the trouble in aggravated form. The Governor therefore decided to submit to the knife once more but he has not determined where the operation will be performed.

Son is Accused.

New York, Feb. 11.—Mrs. Kate Vopel, aged 40, was found dead in her bed at her home at 129 Christopher street today. There were 16 stab wounds in her body and the disordered room indicated a fierce struggle. John Vopel, 17 years old, son of the woman, reported the murder to the police, who found blood-stains on his clothes and believe it is matricide. He was held pending an investigation. Mrs. Vopel was a washerwoman. She had accumulated a comfortable fortune by industry and thrift.

Nerve Slavery

It is present-day conditions—heaping burdens of work upon the nervous system that tells the story—premature breaking up of health.

It tells why so many men and women, who so far as age is concerned, should be in the prime of health, find themselves letting go of the strength, the power, the vitality they once possessed. It is because that great motor power of the body, nerve force, is impaired. Neither will the heart, the brain, the liver, the kidneys, the stomach act right without their proper nerve force supply. Let any organ be lacking in this essential and troubles begin—some of them are:

Prince's Visit.

Washington, Feb. 14.—Representative Wheeler of Kentucky, created amusement in the House today by depicting the visit of Prince Henry.

We are spending thousands of dollars to see a Dutchman take charge of a little ship," said Wheeler.

General reminded him that Washington entertained Lafayette and a delegation of Wales at public expense.

Wheeler exclaimed that was a different kind of thing altogether.

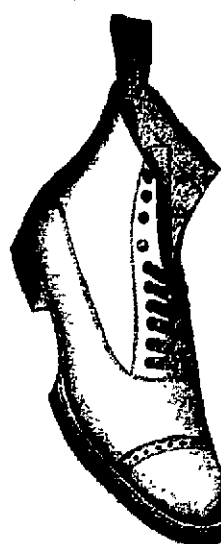

London, Feb. 14.—All obliged to improve English clerks for her merchant houses as the English too seldom take the trouble to learn foreign languages.

PROPOSED CITY HOSPITAL.

Unanimous Action Was Taken at the Mass Meeting Thursday Night.

Sentiment Favors Municipal Ownership and Control—Large Attendance and Enthusiastic Speeches—Council Memorialized—An Executive Committee Named.

Thursday night at the Convention room of the Court House a meeting was held, consisting of those who were interested in the establishment, equipment and maintenance of a hospital by the city of Newark.

There was a large attendance made up of men representing every vocation in the city, professional men, lawyers, preachers, merchants, bankers and laboring men, and it was soon evident that all present were in favor of the hospital project.

A permanent organization was effected, on motion of Mr. Edw. Thomas, who nominated John W. Adams for president of the meeting. Mr. Adams was elected by acclamation.

Gil C. Daugherty was in like manner elected as secretary.

The different organizations were called and the Secretary read the names of their accredited representatives as follows:

Trades and Labor Council—F. L. Woodbridge, George Beck, Charles Deardurff, James T. Murphy and Samuel Hupp.

City Council—J. P. Lamb, George Fromholtz, Charles Deardurff.

Ministers—L. S. Boyce, J. C. Schirrel, B. F. Patt.

Railway Switchmen—S. B. Smith, E. L. Schmidt, Daniel Manning.

Brotherhood of Locomotive Firemen—H. McDonald, J. I. Dollison, D. E. Hankinson.

Painters and Decorators—J. W. Honenberger, Al Donaldson, Henry Gartner.

Lawyers J. B. Jones, J. R. Davies, Gil C. Daugherty, Edward Kibler and others.

Elks Lodge—E. M. P. Brister, W. H. Knauss, C. O. Rankin.

Physicians—D. M. Smith, J. P. Latimer, C. P. King, W. H. Knauss and others.

The board of lady managers of the former hospital was represented by Mrs. Grace Fleck, Mrs. Henry Woodbridge, Mrs. Abraham Miller, Mrs. W. N. Fulton, Mrs. Edward Thomas, Mrs. Elizabeth Morris.

Mr. Joseph Fox suggested that many labor organizations had not held a meeting since the call for this meeting had been issued, but that these would probably select delegates.

Captain F. G. Steele asked that some one who was present at the previous meeting, explain the object of the meeting.

Hon. Edward Kibler took the floor and said that the previous meeting was merely for the purpose of setting on foot the movement for the establishment of a city hospital, since the private hospital for some time conducted on North Third street, had been abandoned for lack of support.

There was ample law for the city establishing and maintaining such a hospital, and a city the size of Newark, with her diversified industries, needed such an institution. He therefore made a motion that the expressed sense of the meeting was that the City Council should be memorialized to build, equip and maintain a hospital according to law.

When remarks on this motion were called, Mr. E. H. Everett took the floor and said that there was no negative side to the question, "Does Newark need such a hospital as is proposed?"

He said that the only question was that of taxes; he thought that the people of Newark had been taxed for improvements heretofore, but always too late. The improvements were not made at the time they were needed, but long afterward. This should not be the case with a hospital.

He was of the opinion that the tax would not be burdensome on anyone if the money for the institution was raised by the principal of general taxation.

C. C. Metz handed to the secretary an old petition addressed to him as president of the Board of Trade signed by W. H. Harrison and 254 others, asking that steps be taken to establish a city hospital. This petition was dated 1885, so that the proposition is not a new one.

Rev. J. C. Schirrel said that it was his desire to see in this city a non-sectarian, non-political city hospital.

He said that he would be ready to put the council or a committee appointed by the meeting in touch with the Passavant hospital system, if it were still in existence.

Captain F. G. Steele said that the city should not be without a hospital for a week. He suggested the perfecting of a hospital organization, and that the present hospital be maintained in some manner until the proposed hospital could be built.

Father O'Boylan recounted his experiences in hospitals both in this country and under the British flag. He suggested that the present hospital be maintained until the city was able to build one, and let those who can, pay and those who could not let the city pay for.

He was not in favor of a hospital being built at the public expense or by general taxation, as in his opinion, it would eventually get into politics, and lead to corruption and scandal. His idea was a hospital to which every church and denomination contributed for any of their members who required hospital service and was unable to pay for the same, and those who had no church connection to be cared for at the expense of the city. He did not think a hospital built by a system of general taxation, conducted by a board elected by the people or appointed by a man who was, could ever succeed in Newark.

Rev. L. S. Boyce said that he was in favor of a hospital and he thought that one could be built and conducted by an honest board in this city, and that the time was propitious as next year was Newark's centennial. No better monument, nor one more appropriate to the centennial could be built than a city hospital.

Rev. B. F. Patt was in favor of the hospital to be maintained by taxation if it could be kept out of politics, and that all people should have a part in the movement.

Mr. Gil C. Daugherty said that the meeting tonight was a great mass meeting compared to that held when the Memorial Hall project was first suggested. The proposed hospital could be built and no tax payer would feel the burden, and would never be sorry after it had been built and paid for. He did not think the "cloven foot of politics" would creep into the management of the proposed hospital. The way to build the hospital was by the general taxation plan so that those who would shirk could not do so, under the system he favored.

Mr. Edward Kibler said that a statute covered the entire matter and made it practically impossible for any corruption to be attempted or practiced.

This statute provided that whenever a site had been provided by purchase, will, condemnation or other means, the city could build and maintain the hospital.

Its management would be in hands of a board of hospital commissioners consisting of the mayor and four men appointed by him. Everything must be purchased after public bidding, and he did not see how any mayor could prostitute the hospital for corrupt ends, as every legislative safeguard was thrown about it. He thought an issue of $25,000 bonds was sufficient, and that by careful management after it was built, the institution could be made almost self sustaining.

On motion of Edward Thomas the speeches were limited to five minutes. J. R. Davies favored the general plan outlined, and F. L. Woodbridge said that every member of the Trades and Labor Council, representing about 8000 workmen, favored the hospital.

Charles Deardurff and James T. Murphy also favored the taxation plan.

J. P. Lamb suggested that membership tickets be sold at $5 each, the proceeds to be used in building a hospital to be turned over to the city. The city had one-half mill tax levy, which was not being used, which would produce about $3500 per year for the maintenance of the hospital.

A motion by Mr. Kibler that the city build, equip and maintain a city hospital, carried unanimously.

Mr. Kibler then introduced the following which was carried without a dissenting voice:

Resolved, That an executive committee of five be appointed to represent this organization with instructions to use all honorable means to bring about the election to the city council this spring, of men in the several wards, who will vote and work in favor of a city hospital.

Messrs Edward Kibler, Benjamin Franklin and E. H. Everett were appointed to select the executive committee and they reported, the following names which were confirmed: Edward Thomas, Herman Ellsner, Harry Swisher, Edward Kibler and John W. Adams.

The meeting then adjourned to meet at the call of the executive committee. The result of the meeting, and the meeting itself in point of numbers and interest, was very gratifying to those who have the matter at heart, and are pushing it to what, it is hoped is a successful end.

Mr. Harry Swisher resigned from the committee Friday being unable to give it the necessary attention, and the committee unanimously selected in his place Mr. William H. Smith, the lumberman. Mr. Smith has accepted.

CORONATION

Pageant is to be the Most Magnificent On Record—Rich Robes Being Made.

New York, Feb. 14.—Descriptions of the coronation robes of the king and queen now making in England emphasize the fact that the coming pageant will be the richest and most magnificent on record. The model now exhibited at Norfolk house for the benefit of the perceresses, has embroidered heraldic devices on the kirtle. The license to introduce coats of arms and convert the coronation through the use of embroideries. The diplomatic set has been informed that invitations to the coronation ceremony will be restricted to ambassador and wife and that no other officials resident in the embassies, much less their wives or daughters, will be admitted. An exception will undoubtedly be made in the case of Henry White on account of the friendship of long standing with the king.

FRIED ONIONS

Indirectly Caused the Death of the World's Greatest General.

It is a matter of history that Napoleon was a gormand, an inordinate lover of good things of the table, and history further records that his favorite dish was fried onions; his death from cancer of stomach it is claimed also, was probably caused from excessive indulgence of this fondness for the odorous vegetable.

The onion is undoubtedly a wholesome article of food, in fact has many medical qualities of value, but it would be difficult to find a more indigestible article than fried onions.

and to many people they are simply poison, but the onion does not stand alone in this respect. Any article of food that is not thoroughly digested becomes a source of disease and discomfort whether it be fried onions or beef steak.

The reason why any wholesome food is not promptly digested is because the stomach lacks some important element of digestion, some stomachs lack pepsine, others are deficient in gastric juice, still others lack hydrochloric acid.

The one thing necessary to do in any case of poor digestion is to supply those elements of digestion which the stomach lacks, and nothing does this so thoroughly and safely as Stuart's Dyspepsia Tablets.

Dr. Richardson, in writing a thesis on treatment of dyspepsia and indigestion, closes his remarks by saying "for those suffering from acid dyspepsia, shown by sour, watery risings, or for flatulent dyspepsia shown by gas on stomach, causing heart trouble and difficult breathing, as well as for all other forms of stomach trouble, the safest treatment is to take one or two of Stuart's Dyspepsia Tablets after each meal. I advise them because they contain no harmful drugs, but are composed of valuable digestives, which act promptly upon the food eaten. I never knew a case of indigestion or even chronic dyspepsia which Stuart's Tablets would not reach."

Cheap cathartic medicines claiming to cure dyspepsia and indigestion can have no effect whatever in actively digesting the food, and to call any cathartic medicine a cure for indigestion is a misnomer.

Every druggist in the United States and Canada sells Stuart's Dyspepsia Tablets, and they are not only the safest, and most successful but the most scientific of any treatment for indigestion and stomach troubles.

BRIDAL

Couple Warmly Greeted Upon Return to Granville—Mr. Tuttle Will Continue at Denison.

Granville, O., Feb. 14.—Mr. Clyde Tuttle and Miss Katherine Evans, of Granville who created such a sensation a few days ago by quietly slipping away and going to Newport, Ky. where they were married by Judge T. K. Hutchinson, on last Saturday, arrived home last night on the eight o'clock car from Newark, and were given an arousing reception on their arrival. Nearly all the small boys of the village were in waiting for them and when the car pulled in they were welcomed with a grand serenade. The bride and groom slipped away from the crowd and made their way to the home of the bride's grandfather, Mrs. Granger, where they spent a short time, after which they repaired to the home of the groom's father, Rev. H. H. Tuttle, where they were warmly received. It is understood that Mr. and Mrs. Tuttle will make their home for the present with Mrs. Granger, and that Mr. Tuttle will resume his studies at Denison university.

MYSTERY

OF MRS. FERRELL'S DEATH STILL UNSOLVED.

A Mt. Vernon Paper Says She Once Lived Near Gambier and Also at Newark Years Ago.

Monday's Advocate contained an article credited to the Cincinnati Commercial Tribune announcing the death of Mrs. Edith Ferrell under unusual circumstances. The article gave the woman's former home as Newark, but a special telegram to the Advocate from Cincinnati said that Mrs. Ferrell had formerly lived in Gambier and not in Newark.

After reproducing the Cincinnati story the Mt. Vernon Banner, of Thursday added the following:

Thorough inquiry about Gambier failed to definitely locate the lady referred to in the above article. It is believed, however, on pretty good authority that Mrs. Ferrell was formerly a Miss Barere, or Beare, who lived near Gambier several years ago, and who removed from Gambier to Newark. It is known that after she left Gambier she married against the wishes of her brothers, though her Gambier friends do not know the name of her husband. Her parents were dead. The statement in the above article that the friends in Gambier were telegraphed, is said to be a mistake.

WOOSTER

IS TRYING TO RAISE $19,269 IN EIGHT DAYS.

Race Against Time for College Fund. Dr. Scovel is Working in Pittsburg.

The recent appeal made in Newark on behalf of Wooster university makes the following from Pittsburg of local interest:

If the friends of Wooster raise $19,269 between this date and 5:30 p. m. of February 21, a fund of $350,000 will be available to rebuild the university which was destroyed by fire two months ago.

At a well attended meeting of the Pittsburg alumni of the University held last evening, Rev. Dr. Scovel stated the situation. He said that an anonymous friend has pledged $100,000 on condition that Wooster and Wayne county, O., raise $40,000, and the remainder of the country $100,000 by February 21. Wooster has raised $40,000, and the trustees are within $19,269 of the outside $100,000. Another unnamed donor has subscribed $50,000 to be paid when the $19,269 is made up. "That is," said Dr. Scovel, "with the $60,000 insurance, we will then have raised $350,000 to rebuild the university." Mrs. William Thaw, has given $12,500 to the general fund. Dr. Scovel is hopeful and says such a word as "fail" is not in the Wooster vocabulary.

QUIET TODAY

In the "Quarter House" District of Kentucky—Johnson Found Mortally Wounded Today.

Middlesboro, Ky., Feb. 14.—Today all is quiet at the "Quarter House" where at sunset Wednesday one of the most desperate mountain battles on record took place, and it is believed that for the present all trouble is past. A guerrilla warfare will, however, likely be carried on for years to come, as it has for some time past between Turners band and his enemies in Bell county. No attempt has been made since the battle to secure Turner. He is at Hartrant, Tenn., where coal mines are located and is surrounded by a large number of his friends. To demand his surrender means more bloodshed.

As a result of Wednesday's battle five are known to be dead, with several missing. The dead are Charley Cecil, Frank Johnson, Mike Welch, Jeff Prader and Perry Watson. The last four who were Turner's bodyguard, were buried yesterday afternoon. Johnson was found this morning mortally wounded.

Man Then Tried to Kill Himself But He Will Live—Tragedy at Orange, N. J.

Orange, N. J., Feb. 14.—A bloody tragedy occurred here last night and as a result a mother is dead and a daughter is dying this morning, while the assassin is badly wounded through an attempt at suicide.

Philemon Crelin, a policeman, recently became insanely jealous of the company which his daughter, Mrs. Mary Ferguson, kept. Last night Crelin returned home and resumed his protestations to his daughter and wife.

Crelin suddenly became infuriated and shot his daughter. Mrs. Crelin, while attempting to interfere, fell dead with fright. The policeman then turned the revolver on himself and fired, the bullet entering the breast.

It was said this morning that Mrs. Ferguson will die, while Crelin who has confessed that he wanted to kill them both, will live.

KIRKERSVILLE.

J. R. Engart, aged 70 years, of Macksville, Kansas, is visiting friends in this vicinity. Forty years ago last April he left Licking county and settled in Missouri, living there for fifteen years. He then moved to Illinois where he remained for eight years, when he went to Kansas, where he has been for the past seventeen years. He was a brother-in-law to John A. Harris, they having married sisters. Mr. Engart's parents were among the first settlers of Licking county, his parents moving into Hanover township in 1804. While here he lived on the farm now known as the Peters farm. His talk of the old Pigeon Swamp brings back many fond recollections to the older settlers. He says that the first vote that he ever cast was for William Bell, Jr., for Sheriff of Licking county, and that he still votes by proxy for the same Bell. John A. Harris, one of the oldest residents of Licking county, died at the home of his daughter, Mrs. John F. Day, on Tuesday morning, Feb. 11, at 4 o'clock. The deceased was born October 3, 1822, near Harrisburg, Pa. Three daughters. Mrs. Joan F. Day, Mrs. McGruder of Missouri and Mrs. Schuman of Columbus, O., and two sons, James R. and George, both of whom live in Kikersville, survive to mourn his death. The funeral services were held at the Methodist church on Wednesday afternoon, conducted by Rev. Mr. Rogers.

The dance held at the hall on Wednesday evening was a success, both socially and financially. Mr. McIntyre, boss of the bridge gang, has moved back to Newark. John Kilack has returned home after two weeks' visit with friends in Indiana.

D. K. Jeffers is making preparations to move back to his former home in Mercer county, near St. Mary's Reservation.

The social by the Methodists at the residence of Ray Reelborn on Friday night was well attended and was a success.

DOOM OF THE MOSQUITO

How It Is Proposed to Rid New Jersey of Its Pest.

BIG APPROPRIATION NEEDED.

Legislature Asked For $10,000 to Be Expended in Locating and Extirminating the State's Noted Scourge.

Professor John B. Smith Tells of Insect's Natural Destructive.

The introduction in the legislature of a bill appropriating $10,000 to the New Jersey agricultural experiment station to be expended under the direction of Professor John B. Smith in prosecuting his investigations of the New Jersey mosquito probably sounds the doom of that odious insect. When asked by the New York Herald correspondent at Trenton what he proposed to do with the $10,000, Professor Smith, who is the entomologist of the New Jersey agricultural experiment station, said:

"There are two points in view—first, the sanitary, second, what may be called the pestiferous. There are many districts in New Jersey where malaria is troublesome. One of my plans is to send out a competent physician to map out all the malarial districts in the state. Following him, I will send a man who will make a physical examination of all those places thus mapped, with the view of ascertaining the breeding places of the malarial mosquitoes. The facts will be immediately reported to the board of health of each locality and afterward will be used in the general report to the state.

"The idea here is to give the local board of health the information they need to stamp out the disease. In a general way, it will be to apply the same principles that have been applied by the American officers in Havana and the British School of Tropical Medicine in Africa. Epidemic malaria can be stamped out entirely, and to make plain how this can be done is one of the objects of this investigation. The most recent investigations have made it certain that malaria depends for its transmission from one individual to another entirely upon mosquitoes of the genus anopheles. This has been demonstrated by the checking of yellow fever in Havana as a consequence of destroying the breeding places of that species of mosquito. In Africa the coast fever has been checked in the same way. In South Orange and some other localities individual communities have spent hundreds of dollars in attempting to abate this nuisance. The success has not been as great as it should have been because of the lack of the very knowledge this investigation is intended to supply.

"The second object besides the ridding of the shore of the salt marsh mosquitoes. These mosquitoes migrate long distances inland and make many districts in the place uninhabitable where no mosquitoes breed locally. Besides the collectors, civil engineers will be kept in the field all the summer outlining plans for mosquito drainage. That is not a plan to drain the marshes, but to render them unfit as breeding places for the insects. One man will be employed studying the natural enemies of the mosquito, such as fish, frogs, toads, and the like. Especial attention will be given to the small fish, with the object of introducing into ponds throughout the state these creatures that will naturally feed on mosquito larvae. Some species breed locally throughout the state, and local conditions will be carefully studied, so that directions may be given that may be carried out by individuals and local authorities."

The professor did not enter at this time into a detailed and concrete explanation of the methods that will probably be adopted for the extermination of the mosquito. These will depend very much upon the result of the investigations that are to be prosecuted. Generally speaking, these methods will comprise the introduction of larva eating fishes into mosquito breeding pools, the introduction of the tidal flow into such pools, the use of petroleum, the drainage of mosquito breeding marshes, the grading and leveling of regions that harbor the insect and the removal of the shrubbery and grass that afford them cover.

The economic effects of suppressing this pest in New Jersey can scarcely be estimated. It would amount into the millions and tens of millions. Some idea of the economic importance of the mosquito may be had from the fact that the taxable value of the few miles between Ocean Grove and Long Branch, inclusive, which are practically free from this pest, is larger than the entire hundred miles between Bay head and Cape May. If that hundred miles of shore front of unsurpassed natural attractiveness could be freed from the swarms of mosquitoes that make it almost uninhabitable in summer, its value would be increased twentyfold. By reason of its extensive and lovely sea front, its good roads, its trolley systems and its situation in the very focus of American civilization, New Jersey is destined to become the playground of the Union, and the only obstacle to the realization of this destiny is the mosquito. For the state to hesitate to spend $10,000 out of a surplus of millions in a promising attempt to remove this obstacle would be idiotic.

RAILWAY AFFAIRS.

NEW METHOD OF HEADLIGHTS, FOR SAFETY.

Rays of Light Thrown Upward and Forward—Test Made—Local and General Notes.

Chicago, Feb. 14.—A practical demonstration of the utility of a new departure which, it is claimed by railway officials, will effectively prove the solution in a large degree of the railway collision problem, has just been made on the Chicago, Milwaukee and St. Paul railroad near here. The device consists of an exceedingly powerful headlight, which not only perfectly illuminates the track with an intensely brilliant shaft of light for a distance of a mile, but also embraces the striking and novel feature of a beam of light of almost equal brilliancy penetrating over 700 feet above, which can be clearly seen ten miles distant. It is thereby possible for approaching trains to absolutely locate each other by this veritable shaft of light through miles apart, and it is this feature which railroad officials claim will eliminate the possibility of collision. This vertical beam will, in hilly country especially, where curves in the track are numerous, so positively fix the location of trains that nothing but carelessness on the part of engineers will permit collision. The apparatus consists of a powerful electric arc headlight, a dynamo and steam motor, all of which occupy the space in the locomotive usually devoted to the headlight. It is further proposed to convey signals of distress or other communications when trouble occurs between telegraph points by the use of colored glass to color the vertical ray of light.

Bucyrus, O. Feb. 14.—A great deal of trouble is being experienced by the Ohio Central and Hocking Valley in obtaining suitable water for the engines. About the only good water is obtained at Bucyrus. A great deal of the other available water is so full of lime and other ingredients that even the new engines that, like leak like leaves within a week after being put into commission. The trouble is depriving the roads of engines and is killing the repair shops.

The National Association of Railroad Commissioners elected the following officers Thursday: B. F. Chadborn, of Maine, president; J. G. Wilborn, of South Carolina, first vice-president; John V. Smith, of Alabama, second vice-president; Edward A. Mosley of Washington, secretary; Martin S. Decker, of Washington, assistant secretary. The association will hold its next meeting in Maine in July. The city where it will convene will be decided upon later.

Speaking of the many improvements contemplated on the Pan Handle the Post says: On the Pan Handle they will cut out three bad curves. These are near the Pennsylvania and West Virginia State line. A tunnel and a leap cut will be necessary to give a straight line from Hamlin down to Collier yards. Over this straight stretch of track trains can be run at an unlimited speed with no danger.

C. R. Merrin a B. & O. fireman was severely scalded Thursday afternoon at Junction City, on the Shawnee division. An arch bar burst and the escaping steam burned his hands, face and neck in a very painful manner. He was brought back to Newark at 6 o'clock and taken in a cab to his home on Valandigham street, where Dr. D. M. Smith attended his burns.

A FEW VALENTINE STORIES

BY MARTHA LOVE

OH, the romance of old time valentines, the tragedy and comedy of them, the matches that were made and married by them, the friendships that were sundered, the hidden love that was told, the hidden spite that was gratified, in the days when the custom of sending valentines was young and meant something!

Today it is the middle aged, even the old, those happy souls among them in whom romance yet lives young and tender and green, that realize now, alas, only in remembrance, the pristine glories of St. Valentine's reign. There is Miss Pine, born in 1845, but perhaps you don't know her. Miss Pine was a schoolteacher at the time of the civil war. She is a schoolteacher still and the salt of the earth. At the outbreak of the war, back in 1861, she was sixteen, with brilliant black eyes and cheeks almost too round and red for perfect beauty.

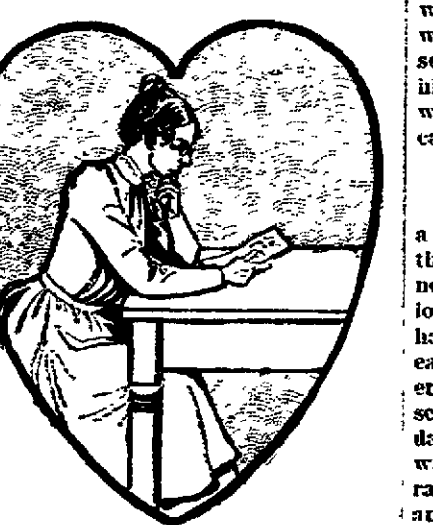

They have had plenty of time to grow white and thin and refined looking since then. Young as she was Dora Pine was engaged to Harry Willing, and Harry Willing went out with that first call April, 1861, when striplings and bearded men enlisted, and every one of them thought the war would be ended in three months and he would be home again. Harry Willing was transferred to the gunboat service and worked his way down gulfwater with the Mississippi fleet. Dora heard from him frequently at first. In 1862 he sent her a valentine from near Memphis. It told her with all the openness of a boy who is not afraid his letters may be used against him in a breach of promise suit that he loved her, that in this and all the other worlds he was hers and hers only.

That precious valentine reached Dora in March, and it was the last word for good or ill she ever had from Harry Willing. He was never heard of again. He was never even reported missing. Whether he was captured and died in prison, whether he was drowned off the gunboat in the darkness or whether any of half a dozen possible fates happened to the handsome, daring youth no mortal knows to this day. Inquiry the most persistent failed absolutely. Only Miss Pine knows surely that he never was a traitor or a coward, that he never was false to her.

Forty years have gone since Valentine's day, '02, yet each 14th of February in the evening after her school lessons are prepared Miss Pine shuts out all the world, turns up the lamp a little brighter, unlocks a writing desk and takes from it a yellow, creased, ragged paper, the only valentine she ever received in her life. Miss Pine is thin and gray now. She wears her hair in prim little old maid curls, tucked back with a comb above each ear. Her nose is long and straight, her hands are wrinkled, but her face is tender and glorified as she spreads that old valentine before her upon the table and cons it over and over, though every letter in it is printed upon her brain cells. Her eyes bend over it an hour, maybe, and all that time she looks as though she were talking to somebody unseen. And every St. Valentine's night after poring over the yellow paper Miss Pine dreams that her hero is yet alive somewhere and that he loves her and woos her as he did forty years ago. Perhaps he is, perhaps he does.

Another civil war valentine story, not so sad:

Packed among articles that were precious to her in her girlhood, but are trash now, of course, a plump, merry eyed matron has a piece of driftwood. She does not take it out and nurse it on St. Valentine's night, for she has now to hold a checkrein on the fellow who sent it to her, and that keeps her busy. She teases it about and laughs when now and then she has occasion to tumble out the trash in that old box where she keeps it.

Her husband, Hon. Richard Hardy—may he live and hold office long!—was a soldier in the sixties, too, and marched with Sherman down to the sea. He probably could have got paper and pencil that Valentine's day, '65, but in a spirit of whimsical humor he picked up a piece of driftwood, oblong, square cornered and worn smooth by the water. Upon one side of it he carved in print letters with his jackknife, the same knife that whittled out tent pegs and laced sausages, the address:

MISS LARRY MERTON,
Blankville,
Blank County,
State of Illinois,
U. S. A.

Upon the other side he carved this:
IN CAMP, 14th Feb., 1865.
Your ever faithful valentine,
DICK HARDY.

This unique valentine "got through," as they used to say in those days, and brought a laugh to the lips of lively Lottie Merton and her friends. She always knew Dick Hardy would come out of the war safe, and he did. They were married in 1866 and have lived happily ever since—at least there has been so far no talk of a divorce.

Among the personal effects left by an eccentric and very rich bachelor was an old fashioned comic valentine of the hideous type of those which we may hope earnestly will never come again in fashion. Probably they will not, for the taste of folk is more refined and artistic now. When the rich bachelor was a poor young man, shy and very sensitive, shabbily dressed, earning not much, he fell in love, a passionate first love it was, with a popular belle. He was too poor to declare himself, but he fancied the girl liked him. He was sure he was right about that, and he was. With the incentive of gaining her favor he worked with all his might, denied himself all but the mere necessities of life and dreamed of saving enough money to begin business for himself and then go in and win his girl. He knew he was both shrewd and lucky. It would not take him long, he reasoned.

So it stood when one Feb. 14 he opened a comic valentine. The address

A SOLDIER'S VALENTINE FROM THE FRONT, and the writing inside were in the well known hand of his ladylove. The valentine represented "The Miser," a hideous green and red cut of a ragged, cadaverous looking wretch gloating over bags of gold. Underneath was written:

THE STINGY YOUNG MAN.
Here's Peter Stingy, who hoards every cent;
Each time he lays out is a drop of blood spent.
His pants they are patched, they grin at the seams,
And he'd die ere he'd ask the girls to ice creams.

The young man never got over the cruel hurt. He thought the lady of his love had sent it, and he went near her no more, but devoted himself to money making, as though it was all that was left him worth having or getting. Years afterward, when the girl had married somebody else, he found that she did not put upon him the insult he had fancied and at the time knew nothing of it. A rival had sent the thing, bribing a mischievous young brother of the lady to imitate her penmanship, which he could do perfectly. The bachelor found out also, when it was too late, that the young lady would have married him if he had persevered in his suit. But by that time his heart was somehow dried up toward the feminine sex, and he never cared for another.

One more valentine, in which lurks a romance and mystery unsolved to this day. The valentine was received not many years ago by a lone and lonely woman who to her knowledge had not a sweetheart on this round earth. It was addressed to her properly enough, but the writer merely sent it and gave no sign, and to this day she has never found out who he was, or mayhap it was "she." At any rate, are not the verses sweet, strong and graceful?

LOVE WILL STILL LEAD.
Should we stray, lost within a lonesome land,
Where flowers refuse to bloom and death-fall sand,
O'erstep the way by which we would return,
Love will still lead, though lost we wait and learn.

And it is by chance of grief and sorrowing Our disjointed hands no longer clasp and cling
Some whispering word of love will find its place
Exalting us to newer peace and grace.
Let us then keep our truth till death do us part
For 'tis then and 'tis The world is in rhyme,
The heart and mine are

AT PIQUA

The Second Biennial Convention of The Y. M. C. A. Now in Session—Attendance is Large.

The Second Biennial Convention of the Ohio Young Men's Christian Association convened at Piqua, O., yesterday afternoon. Delegates are present from all the large cities and from about thirty colleges. 300 delegates already have arrived. The Convention was called to order by H. P. Crouse, editor of Toledo Times, one of the vice chairmen of the last convention.

At the opening session the address was given by Dr. Wilbur T. Thirkield of Cincinnati. Dr. Washington Gladden had been announced but was detained by illness. The address of the evening by Dr. Morgan Wood, D.D., of Cleveland, was fully up to the highest expectation of the Committee. He spoke on "Religion and the Young Men of Today" in a way to make real the varied attitudes of men toward Christianity.

The report of the State Committee was presented at the opening of the evening session by Thomas Elder, of Dayton, the Chairman of this committee. The past year's work as shown in the report has made good progress in every department. There are four new College Associations, and two new railroad association buildings are probably within the year. Two large mortgages, aggregating over $70,000, were paid during the year by Cleveland and Painesville. The Treasurer's report showed $7,600 expended during the past year and all bills paid on February first. Openings at Akron, Marietta, Wauseon and Sterling, were presented. Akron is the only city of 50,000 in this country which has no Young Men's Christian Association. The business men are now engaged in raising $40,000 for a building there.

A meeting of the State Committee was held at the Plaza Hotel at five o'clock. The business of the year was closed up and the Committee adjourned. On Saturday the Committee will meet for reorganization with the new members elected by the convention present. Traveling Secretaries will then be elected and the work of next year planned.

The convention program of which has previously been published in the Advocate, will continue tomorrow and Sunday.

Foraker's Opinion.

Youngstown, O., Feb. 14.—Senator Foraker, who came here to attend the Foraker club banquet, said in an interview regarding the Anglo-Japanese alliance:

"It is a move of the nations against Russia for an 'open door.' Russia occupies Manchuria with the intention of keeping out the other nations, and now England and Japan are standing for an open door in the east."

"It is the same position as was taken by the United States against Russia in the China affair and the position will redound to the benefit of this country."

A Carnegie Library.

Portsmouth, O., Feb. 14.—This city is in the throes of a heated discussion as to the proper site for the $50,000 library which Andrew Carnegie has offered. Committee after committee has been appointed to settle the question, but every available site to be thought of has been lauded and condemned without measure. Not only this, but the Tax league, which assumes to keep a fatherly eye on municipal affairs, says the city cannot afford it at all, and should refuse Carnegie's generous offer.

HOPPERS AND VALENTINES

By A. B. LEWIS.

(Copyright, 1922, by A. B. Lewis.)
HOMER DAWSON, and Abigail Jones, the one an old bachelor and the other an old maid, had been engaged for two years when a fatal dispute arose one evening. The matter would not have come up at all had Homer been devoting his time to telling how happy he would be when married or had Abigail been blushing as coyly as became her thirty years, but on this occasion both were remiss in their duties. The dispute arose as to whether a grasshopper could be called a young frog. Abigail contended that it could, as both were jumpers. Homer, however, declared to the contrary, as the grasshopper did not inhabit ponds and sing to the night. What began as a mild dispute ended in Abigail tossing her head angrily and exclaiming:

"If a grasshopper is not a young frog, he is not to blame for it, and any one who says to the contrary can take his hat and go home!"

"And I say that a grasshopper is no more a young frog than I am," replied Homer, "and, by hen, I'll get under my hat and skip!"

With that he left Abigail's house, and pride stepped in to keep them apart, although both were sorry enough and anxious to make up. After eight months had passed and St. Valentine's day arrived both wished that all frogs and grasshoppers had been chucked into the sea. To her great astonishment, Abigail Jones received a valentine. To his great astonishment, Homer Dawson also received one. Both missives were libelous caricatures, and each recipient jumped to the conclusion that the other had sought a mean revenge. Homer was no old back but stood an insult in four colors, and Abigail was no old maid to be pictured as toothless and baldheaded. Each started to call on the other and demand an apology, and as they met half way it was Abigail who shouted at the top of her voice:

"Homer Dawson, you are a contemptible frog eater!"

"And you are a human grasshopper," he shouted.

It was give and take for a few minutes, and then Homer Dawson suddenly said:

"Say, Abigail, the writing on this envelope don't look like your'n after all."

"And I can't say that it is your'n on this."

"Then, Abigail, let's make up."

"On one condition only," she replied.

"And that is?"

"That you admit a grasshopper is a young frog."

"Abigail, my own Abigail, I'll do it!" exclaimed Homer Dawson. "I'll admit that a young grasshopper is not only a frog, but that if his hind legs were a little longer he would make a mighty good kangaroo!"

A week later the wedding bells were pealing, and as Homer proudly walked up the aisle of the church with the fair Abigail on his arm he softly whispered to her:

"By hen, Abigail, a young grasshopper is a frog, a toad and a kangaroo to boot, and I can lick any six footer in America who says he isn't."

The creamery at this place started on a prosperous year, as 4,000 pounds of butter was made during the month of January. This paid to the patrons the sum of $700. This, together with the payroll of the railroad, distributes to the inhabitants of this village and community $1,000 per month, speaking fairly well for a village of 100 inhabitants.

The preparatory week of prayer is being observed this week, as the meeting commences Sunday.

The teachers of Harrison township will meet at Kriensville Saturday, February 22.

Although Mr. and Mrs. William Legg knew that they each had a birthday at this season of the year, they had no idea that their many friends had this same fact in mind, or that their friendship had won so many warm supporters, until Wednesday, when seventy of their friends and relatives, went to their home north of town, with well filled baskets, to help them enjoy the day.

That the day might not be forgotten they were left, as a token of esteem, a beautiful set of dishes. All enjoyed the day, and all wish them many more happy birthdays. The out-of-town guests were Mrs. Hattie Ketter, Mr. and Mrs. Henry Wick, and Mrs. Sidney Morrow of Painesville.

MISTAKE

THAT NEARLY ALWAYS UPSETS THE PLANS

Of the Shrewdest Criminals—Observations Brought Out in the Famous Biddle Case.

"It is the inability of the shrewdest criminal to keep going without making a fatal mistake that detectives depend upon to catch them," says Roger O'Mara in the Pittsburgh Dispatch. "Men with more brains than the Biddle boys, men higher up in the profession of burglary, have made mistakes just as they did, and lost their lives thereby. It is nearly always drink, women or cards with criminals and the officers watch the haunts of these fellows as closely as possible. With the Biddles it was a woman. I never expected them to try to take Mrs. Sofel with them. What I expected—and the reasonable thing for them to do—was to make an appointment to meet the woman somewhere, then never meet her. I had no idea they would be taken until they were arrested for some new crime. But they made the fatal mistake. They kept together and took the woman, and they were immediately a mark for everyone who reads the papers.

"But the Biddles were not clever burglars. They had not learned their profession. They were small house-breakers, and had not learned the first axiom of burglars who know their business—'Don't shoot if you can possibly avoid it.' The mere fact that they shot Grocer Kahney is evidence that they were not clever. All that was ever found on them was cheap stuff. They were not clever enough to burglarize a store or take any chance with the police. They might have gone on in their small way for a long time if they had been clever enough to get out of the Kahney house without using a gun.

"Real, first-class burglars are practically of the past. Electricity has wiped them out. Banks and business houses worth robbing are too well protected. Not only burglar alarms are in the way, but far more difficult to overcome are the well-lighted streets of all cities.

"Consequently the field for first-class burglars is narrowed down to the suburbs and to the small towns. How many years ago has it been since a real bank robbery has occurred? It can't be done any more. It has been so long since there have been any real opportunities that the expert burglars who could open any safe made are all dead, in prison or crazy. None of the old experts are in the business and no new crop has grown up. Electricity has done the work—has done more to rid the country of clever rogues than all the police of the world combined.

"Many people have foolish ideas of how to act if they discover a burglar in the house. They think it is the part of a brave man to get out of bed and attempt to drive the burglar from the house. The really proper thing to do is to cover up your head and don't let the thief know you heard him. Let him get the $50 or $100 worth of plunder and get away as quietly as possible. That is not the act of a coward. It is a fool who attacks an armed burglar ready to shoot when he is in a corner.

"If I were to walk out on the street and come face to face with a man badly wanted, and if he were to get the drop on me and order me to step back 10 steps back. People might say I was a coward, but I'm not going up against an armed man without pretty nearly an even chance with him.

A criminal is only taking chances that come to him in the way of business, and he is ready for whatever comes. The average man in a case of this kind is taken by surprise. The burglar has a plan and he hasn't. It's just like an excited mob going up against an army of trained and disciplined men. The trained men get the best of it.

"There are lots of criminals who have never been caught and never will be. Three members of the famous Blinkey Morgan gang in Ohio are still at large. There are scores like them. But they had to quit the business, for sooner or later the cleverest of them if they keep at it, will make the fatal mistake, just as the Biddle boys did. It's the fate of the habitual criminal."

INSANE GIRL

Kept Her Mouthfull of Pins for Three Years But She Never Missed a Meal.

A young woman who for three years kept her mouth full of pins and nails, and yet never missed a meal, is the wonder of the people of Veazie, a little village four miles from Bangor, says the Bangor, Maine correspondent of the New York World.

Clarissa Turner, the victim of this strange habit, is the daughter of James Turner, of Veazie. When she was a child she caught cold by going berrying barefoot, and this resulted in a severe attack of the chickenpox, which left her wholly deaf and partially blind.

One day a traveling quack doctor came along who declared that he could cure the girl, and for $10 he gave two bottles of medicine—one to be taken internally for the blindness, the other to be applied externally for the deafness.

The result of the child's use of these medicines was that she soon became insane, being at times very violent. For 12 years she has not left the house and her condition is pitiful in the extreme.

While as a child she was gentle she now sometimes savagely attacks her mother. Formerly she was very studious, but now she never looks at a book, even in her lucid intervals.

The Turners declare that they have been aware for three years that their daughter had a habit of carrying fragments of glass in her mouth, and on several occasions she had been observed to add a pin or a small nail, but until about a month ago they had no idea that she was carrying a whole handful of rusted pins and nails between her tongue and cheek.

Clarissa, being easily excited, was allowed to keep the fragments of glass in her mouth, until one day in December Mrs. Turner observed that her cheek was greatly swollen. Then as the young woman appeared to be in a docile mood, the mother coaxed her to disgorge the strange mouthful. Here is what came out of Clarissa's mouth:

One hundred and ten common pins, two clap-board nails, two shingle nails, three pieces of glass and a large brass safety pin.

The small pins were black and corroded, and the nails were rusted, while the safety pin had left its impression as perfect as a die in the flesh on the inside of the cheek.

"And did she never take these things out of her mouth?" was asked of the girl's father.

"Never," said he.

John Thompson's Funeral.

The funeral of Mr. John Thompson took place at the residence on Elm street Monday afternoon. Mr. Thompson was born in Parkersburg, West Virginia, moved with his parents to Iowa, where he joined the Ninth Iowa and served to the end of the Civil war. After the war he moved to Jackson town, and was united in marriage to Eliza Jewell, of which union three children were born, one having preceded him to the grave. The choir of the Congregational church sang some beautiful hymns in commemoration of the dead. Rev. T. M. Higgenbotham delivered a touching tribute to the soldier who fought for his country and his service in the hour of its need. A number of people paid their respects to the dead. Four well known veterans of this city, L. H. Inscho, Captain James Smith, Russell Moore and J. R. Ashbrook, acted as pallbearers.

Tonight Mr. Wright will preach on "Heaven."

DIMES

Being Received by the Thousands. Somebody Started an Endless Chain of Contributions.

Cleveland, O., Feb. 11.—An endless chain letter scheme started by some person unknown to the officials of the McKinley National Memorial association, is giving serious work to the clerks of the organization both at Cleveland and Canton. Already $1000 has been received through the chain letters, each of which contains 10 cents. The letters are being sent to Judge William R. Day at Canton and the office force of the association there has found it impossible to handle the big volume of mail. As a result the letters are placed in sacks and shipped from Canton to Myron T. Herrick, the national treasurer at Cleveland. The last shipment contained 4000 letters.

At the national headquarters of the association here it was stated that all contributions should be sent directly to Myron T. Herrick, the treasurer at Cleveland. From information contained in some of the letters the chain scheme is supposed to have started at Fort Wayne, Ind. It now covers every section of the country and the mail is daily and rapidly increasing.

The Pennsylvania Lines.

The Pennsylvania road is now giving the best service through Newark in its history. They are now running a sleeper through Newark from Pittsburgh to Atlanta, Ga., Jacksonville, and St. Augustine, Fla. A person can take this sleeper at Newark at 12:50 p. m. daily and go through without change or lay over, thus making it possible to make the trip from the cold weather of the north to the summer sunshine in the south.

The Pennsylvania has three through trains daily Newark, both coaches and sleepers, leaving Newark in the morning and arriving in St. Louis in the evening, giving a pleasant daylight ride without change of cars or stop over.

IN OLDEN TIMES.

People overlooked the importance of permanently beneficial effects and were satisfied with transient action; but now that it is generally known that Syrup of Figs will permanently overcome habitual constipation, well-informed people will not buy other laxatives, which act for a time, but finally injure the system. Buy the genuine, made by the California Fig Syrup Company.
